An email has just come in from an important client who has recently lost the ability to speak coherently. Apparently they have dropped off an important check at someone's mailbox somewhere in the vicinity of our building and we need you to go find it. Their email reads as follows:

- My check has been delivered to somewhat of a computer wizard. They may not be an illustrator but can be considered a skilled administrator. I can't believe you managed to take him from Xerox, for that you deserve a drink on the rocks. I hope that you have a good rest of your day, and that this inject hasn't gotten too much in your way.

Sincerely,
Rick Sanchez

Please obtain this check as soon as possible, the time it takes you to retrieve it will be used to judge your value as an asset to our company. If you have any questions please ask at your own risk. Thank you.
